Steve,

Thank you for the email yesterday. I do want to meet with you. However before we do, you may want to review the below Supreme Court case with city legal. As the ruling has been explained to me, many parts of your sign code are inconsistent with the ruling and therefore, unconstitutional.

Please understand it is not my intention to make this a public matter. However, you may want to contact my opponent or his team and make them aware that trampling people's constitutional rights may not be the way to run a campaign.

With that said, I have tried to make sure that my signs are out of the reasonable right of way. There is still a measure in the case related to rulings for safety.

I am happy to meet with you any time. Thank you.

Grover

Florida has a very broad public records law. Under Florida law, both the content of emails and email addresses are public records. If you do not want the content of your email or your email address released in response to a public records request, do not send electronic mail to this entity. Instead, contact this office by phone or in person.
