Sad that it had to come to this. Why is there so much greed and corruption within nonprofit organizations? The board of directors and finances need to be heavily locked into. Things will come to light eventually...but in the meantime this is a huge loss, not only to the animals and people in the community but the staff and volunteers who were hurt in the process as well.
Shame on you Pensacola Humane Society board of directors.
If you know any jobs hiring pregnant chicks, lemme know!

When this happens, it's usually because the owner only shared it with a small group of people, changed who can see it or it's been deleted.

This picture pretty much sums up how I am feeling about this terribly sad situation. The PHS board needs to go away. They have failed, not the staff and volunteers and definitely not the sweet animals.
